
End of life and palliative care volunteers

Summary

- Volunteers are people in the community who assist people with a life-limiting illness.
 - Contact a palliative care provider near you about the options available for volunteering.
 - Palliative Care Victoria and Volunteering Victoria can provide further information.
-

End of life and palliative care volunteers are people of all ages in the community who provide free assistance to people with a life-limiting illness and their families.

They are recruited, trained and managed by local palliative care services. They can offer practical help, provide emotional support, give family members a break, and assist in enjoyable activities.

Availability of volunteer programs varies depending on what area or region you live in. Contact a palliative care provider near you about the options available by using the 'Find a health service' search option on this website.

Further information on palliative care volunteering is available on the Palliative Care Victoria website.

General information about volunteering in Victoria is available on the Volunteering Victoria website.

This page has been produced in consultation with and approved by:

Palliative Care, Health Service Policy and Commissioning, Department of Health & Human Services

Content on this website is provided for information purposes only. Information about a therapy, service, product or treatment does not in any way endorse or support such therapy, service, product or treatment and is not intended to replace advice from your doctor or other registered health professional. The information and materials contained on this website are not intended to constitute a comprehensive guide concerning all aspects of the therapy, product or treatment described on the website. All users are urged to always seek advice from a registered health care professional for diagnosis and answers to their medical questions and to ascertain whether the particular therapy, service, product or treatment described on the website is suitable in their circumstances. The State of Victoria and the Department of Health & Human Services shall not bear any liability for reliance by any user on the materials contained on this website.

For the latest updates and more information, visit www.betterhealth.vic.gov.au

Copyright © 1999/2019 State of Victoria. Reproduced from the Better Health Channel (www.betterhealth.vic.gov.au) at no cost with permission of the Victorian Minister for Health. Unauthorised reproduction and other uses comprised in the copyright are prohibited without permission.